

Accessibility on Grantham Institute blog site

This statement relates only to web pages with a web address beginning www.granthaminstitute.com/ which are pages on the Grantham Institute blog, created on Wordpress using the Miniva theme.

How accessible the website is

We want as many people as possible to be able to use this website. For example, that means you should be able to:

- Navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- Resize to the size of your window and display a readable text size whichever device you are using
- Listen to most of the website using a screen reader, with alternative text provided for images and videos.
- Skip to main content links

AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability.

What we do about known issues

We work to achieve and maintain WCAG 2.1 AA standards, but it is not always possible for all our content to be accessible. Where content is not accessible, we will state a reason, warn users and offer alternatives.

Technical information about this website's accessibility

Imperial College London is committed to making its website accessible in accordance with the Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) (No. 2) Accessibility Regulations 2018.

This website is fully compliant with the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines version 2.1 AA standard.

Reporting accessibility issues

If you need information on this website in a different format like accessible PDF, large print, easy read, audio recording or braille or if you find any accessibility issues not listed on this page then please contact both:

- The Grantham Institute: grantham@imperial.ac.uk
- Lottie Butler: at c.butler@imperial.ac.uk

We will endeavour to respond within 7 working days.

Enforcement procedure

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) is responsible for enforcing the Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) (No. 2) Accessibility Regulations 2018 (the 'accessibility regulations'). If you're not happy with how we respond to your complaint, contact the Equality Advisory and Support Service \(EASS\).
